Build YOUR Tool Box

For each and every vocation (job), social situation(s), and sports activity/game, there is a basic set of “tools” a person must have and use in order to be a success. In many cases it is obvious: a carpenter needs a hammer, saw, nails, etc.; a polite and respectful one must say please, thank you, etc; a baseball player must have a glove, hat, ball, bat, etc.

There are other “tools” we must have to be a success in all aspects of our lives. These are intangible ones that you can not see but must have in your tool box! These are very important “tools” that will empower you to become a productive citizen, cooperative teammate, and successful person.

“Build YOUR Tool Box”: List those tangible and intangibles that you must have to accomplish your goals and achieve YOUR dreams in baseball!!!! Number 1 is listed as a hint!! GAGPTH!
